Daniel Weinger

Reversal of Trial Court's Order

In Katz-Luongo v. Amortegui, 3D19-1852 (Fla. 3d DCA April 8, 2020), Appellate Partner Daniel Weinger successfully obtained a reversal of a trial court's order denying a motion to quash service of process. In the written opinion, the appellate court agreed with Mr. Weinger's argument that the plaintiff failed to meet her burden of establishing substitute service of process through service on the defendants' roommate at an address the defendant maintained but where, according to the roommate, she was not living at the time of service.
