

NORTH CAROLINA

3 SUCCESSES

FOR THE PETTEY & PARTRICK FIRM

Attorneys Rod Pettey and Alayna Poole received a defense verdict after a week-long jury trial. The firm represented a truck driver and his employer. There was an accident on a highway involving a farm tractor and the Plaintiff claimed numerous orthopedic injuries as well as a traumatic brain injury.

Rod Pettey and Alayna Poole also won a North Carolina Court of Appeals decision affirming the trial court's granting a directed verdict in their favor after a week of trial. They represented a transportation company who was sued by a woman claiming she was injured by a handicap ramp resulting in her being totally disabled.

Their final win was a summary judgment on a wrongful death case. The case involved an accident from vehicles that were allegedly racing from an illegal car meet on their client's commercial property.
