

TARANTO SECURES RISK TRANSFER ACCEPTANCES

Pennsylvania - Fowler Hirtzel McNulty & Spaulding, LLC

Pursuant to construction agreements for two large residential project sites, Damian Taranto was able to secure risk transfer acceptances from subcontractors in two separate personal injury actions involving significant injuries. Through early discussions with counsel, limited discovery activities and document productions, and minimal litigation costs, Taranto was able to have the insureds, who were general contractors and land developers, dismissed from both cases. He was also able to recoup some of the litigation costs from the carriers for the subcontractors given the delays associated with the tender acceptance.
