

VODZAK + CHOW OBTAIN REVERSAL OF TRIAL COURT DECISION

Pennsylvania - Fowler Hirtzel McNulty & Spaulding, LLC

Matthew Vodzak and Dennis Chow obtained a reversal of a trial court decision in an insurance coverage matter.

The case involves a dispute over priority of coverage between two insurance policies, which requires a court to compare the language of the policies involved. The other insurance company obtained a judgment on the pleadings that its policy provided excess coverage to FHMS's client, even though both insurance policies were not part of the record. On appeal, the Pennsylvania Superior Court unanimously reversed, agreeing with Vodzak and Chow's position that the trial court could not determine priority of coverage without comparing the language of both policies at issue.
