Charleston's Of Counsel, Albert "Abbie" C. Dunn, Jr. represented a veterinarian before the Board responding to a complaint by a dog owner who alleged that the veterinarian misdiagnosed the dog who was presented for a spay procedure.

The Veterinarian determined that the dog was not a surgical candidate due to concerns associated with physical findings associated with an infection of the leg, and lab work. The Veterinarian issued a rule out diagnosis of cancer which the owner disputed, and the veterinarian presented a treatment plan and follow-up care. Ultimately, the Board of Veterinary Medicine determined that the Veterinarian did not deviate from the standard of care in her assessment of the history, physical and diagnostic tests performed resulting in the proffered treatment plan.

"Abbie" C. Dunn, Jr., received an order from the District Court granting a Petition for Award of Attorney fees against a Plaintiff who's case was dismissed as a sanction for failure to comply with the Court's Orders and who also lost a challenge of that dismissal before the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.
